Iconic & Exceptional

Pétrus 2006 - Pomerol, Bordeaux, France	Bottle
One of the world's rarest wines, Petrus has truly become an icon of its time under Christian Moueix. The vineyard of just 11½ hectares is located on a plateau in the highest part of Pomerol, the Merlot vines flourishing in the famous blue clay soils. The vines are planted for no less than 70 years, giving extraordinary concentration within the fruit. The grapes are harvested by hand, only in the afternoons when all dew has evaporated in order not to risk any dilution to this intense concentration. The wines are considered approachable after 10 years in bottle: the 2006 vintage is now drinking exceptionally well.	£4000.00
Sassicaia 1996, Tenuta San Guido - Tuscany, Italy	£800.00
Sassicaia is today one of the world's most sought-after wines. Mario Incisa della Rocchetta began planting the Bordeaux varietals Cabernet Sauvignon, Cabernet Franc and Merlot in Bolgheri on the Tuscan coast, an area of land that had previously been thought to be unsuitable for growing vines. Within the deeply conservative 1960's Tuscan wine-making world this was a radical, even inflammatory, move. So was born the first Super Tuscan. The name Sassicaia means "place of many stones" and the gravel soils have been compared to those of Medoc. Regarded now as one of the world's greatest Cabernet Sauvignon wines, Sassicaia recently made history by being the first single wine to be granted its own DOC. The wines of Sassicaia combine intense notes of cassis and cedar, with extraordinary power and length.
Hermitage La Chapelle 2009, Paul Jaboulet Aîné - Rhône, France	£390.00
Returning from the crusades in the 13th century, the knight Gaspard de Sterimberg sought a new life of peace and solitude. He built a chapel overlooking the Rhône valley and lived the remainder of his days as a hermit. Thus the Hermitage appellation can trace its roots. Today, the greatest proponent of Hermitage wine for the past 50 years, Paul Jaboulet Aîné, is still producing small quantities of this famous wine, practising at the highest end of his art. Small quantities of Syrah grapes are harvested by hand before being brought down the steep slopes of the valley, carried by sledge to the winery. Using only traditional methods, spending up to 18 months on new French oak, these wines are very deep in colour, magnificently and hauntingly savoury. The quintessential Syrah.
Marchesi Antinori Tignanello Toscana IGT 2014 - Tuscany, Italy	£450.00
Antinori is the most famous name in Italian wine and the influence of Piero Antinori in the last 25 years has been nothing short of revolutionary. It's a fair statement to say they created the first Super Tuscan. Antinori's flagship wine, Tignanello, first appeared in 1971 and caused a sensation by its use of Cabernet Sauvignon in a Sangiovese blend and with its practice of ageing in small French barriques. Antinori was accused of vinous treachery and treason but soon barrique-aged blends of Sangiovese and Cabernet began appearing all across Tuscany. The Sangiovese dominates on the nose with notes of grilled meats and Morello cherries. These are echoed on the palate, reminiscent of great Chianti Classico, before the blackcurrant comes in towards the finish to remind you that the Cabernets are there. Great acidity and full, but soft tannins indicate that this will drink relatively early, but has at least a decade of life ahead of it. Another delicious Tig' from the team at Antinori.
Chateau Palmer 3eme Cru Classe 1989 - Margaux, Bordeaux, France	£650.00
Dating back to the 17th century, Chateau Palmer took its name from Englishman Charles Palmer who purchased the Estate in 1814. The 66 hectare property is now owned by two Bordeaux negotiant families – Sichel and Mähler-Besse, under the charismatic leadership of oenologist Thomas Duroux. Situated not far from the village of Margaux, the vines grow overlooking the Gironde Estuary in a mixture of gravel, sand and clay soils. Since 2008 the estate has become fully biodynamic and the wines share their home with grazing animals and complementary plants. 1989 is one of the great vintages of Château Palmer, a perfectly balanced and exquisitely detailed blend of 52% Cabernet Sauvignon, 41% Merlot, 6% Petit Verdot and 1% Cabernet Franc. It is a wine that can be described as cerebral. The wines are fleshy, full-bodied and powerful yet supple. The tannins are ripe and integrated.
Ridge, Geyserville 2019 - Alexander Valley, USA	£195.00
Ridge vineyards have been the darlings of critical praise for decades. They were some of the first to champion old-vine Zinfandel, making it since 1964. Some of the vines behind this Zinfandel –dominated blend are over 130 years old. This is rich and juicy, and you can expect intense notes of black cherry, oak spice, cola, mint and blackcurrant.

	Bottle
Grands-Echezeaux Cru 2017, Joseph Drouhin -Côte de Nuits, Burgundy, France	£720.00
The name comes from "cheza" (plural "chezeaux"): a hamlet. The monks of Côteaux, who already owned Clos Vougeot, coveted the Musigny vineyard but were never able to acquire it. They put all their hopes instead on Grands-Echezeaux so as to become the rival of the prestigious Musigny. Peerless Burgundy, packed with cherries, dark chocolate and cocoa bean, increasingly fragrant with truffle, undergrowth and leather as it ages.
Opus One 2007, Robert Mondavi - Napa Valley, USA	£990.00
Opus One began as a collaboration between the great Californian winemaker Robert Mondavi and Baron Philippe de Rothschild, the first vintage of 1979 being released in 1983. The vines are to be found in dense proliferation around the state of the art winery in Oakville. A Cabernet Sauvignon/Merlot blend on a 95:5 split, the wine is stored on new French oak for 18 months before spending another 18 months in bottle prior to release. Opus One is one of California's most high profile wines. It is also one of its best. The 2007 is regarded by commentators and critics as being one of the greatest wines ever made at Opus One. The flavours of blackcurrant and liquorice shine through, but there is also an undercurrent of subtle smokiness. Running alongside, an opulent texture and dazzling purity mark this out as one of Mondavi's great vintages.
Dominus, 2005 - Napa Valley, USA	£750.00
The reputation of Christian Moueix as one of the world's leading winemakers is based as much on the wines of Dominus as Petrus. His longstanding relationship with the West Coast began in the 1960s as a student studying abroad. Despite returning home to run the family vineyards in Bordeaux, his affection for Napa was undimmed, returning to take full control over the famous Napanook vineyard in the mid-Nineties. The 2005 is a classic Bordeaux blend of 92% Cabernet Sauvignon, 5% Cabernet Franc and 3% Petit Verdot. This is the blessed union of French savoir faire and Napa fruit purity. Powerful flavours of earth, blackcurrant, sweet black cherry and incense, with the oak firmly pushed into the background, are the rewards of this great "Terroir" wine which is now hitting its prime.
	Magnum
Cask 23 Cabernet Sauvignon 2016, Stag's Leap - Napa Valley, USA	£760.00
Warren Winiarski studied the art of winemaking under Robert Mondavi before striking out alone and setting up Stag's Leap in the heart of Napa in 1972. The master's apprentice immediately established himself as a very serious player, the 1973 vintage taking first place over leading red Bordeaux at a major tasting in 1976. That this took place in Paris was all the more remarkable and was a seismic shock to the hitherto unchallenged supremacy of the leading French Chateaux. Cask 23 is the top wine from Stag's Leap, combining the best of two historic vineyards – Fay and S.L.V. Recognised as one of the most powerful of the past 20 years, the 2016 vintage offers woody spice and toasty oak before giving way to aromatic herb and blackcurrant, all supported by such elegant tannins.
Trimbach 1983 Cuvée Frédéric Emile Riesling - Alsace, France	£335.00
Earning a listing for one of your wines at a Michelin-starred restaurant is a proud moment – so what must it be like to be featured by every single three Michelin-starred restaurant in France (that's 27 in total)? It's an accolade that reflects the historic excellence and purist vision of F. E. Trimbach, unquestionably one of the great names of Alsace and a family business that can trace its origins all the way back to 1626. A complex nose of white bread crust, toasted bread, dried apricots and spices. There's also pepper on the nose and palate that makes the wine more concentrated and hot. A nice, mature, concentrated dry white wine. There's a side of lively, sweet fruity notes to this wine as well.
Batard-Montrachet 2005, Vincent Girardin -Côtes de Beaune, Burgundy, France	£260.00
Batard-Montrachet is a Grand Cru that also covers land in Chassagne-Montrachet and Puligny-Montrachet. Its terroir is ideal for the Chardonnay grape varietal that makes complex wines with excellent ageing potential. Born with a passion for wine, in 1980 at the age of 19, Vincent, the son of a family of winegrowers based in Santenay since the 17th century, decided to strike out on his own. He began producing wine from two hectares of vines that he had inherited from his parents and so began the history of Maison Vincent Girardin.
Cheval des Andes - Mendoza, Argentina
Often referred to as a 'New World Grand Cru', it's described as the best of both worlds: a combination of the intensity of Argentinian fruit but dressed in a very elegant way with that French style. A collaboration between Terrazas de los Andes and Pierre Lurton of Cheval Blanc.
2012	£250.00
A warmer vintage but they harvested earlier to preserve the freshness. The 2012 Cheval des Andes has more floral notes of violets and lilies.
2013	£250.00
Ripe and generous, but not overblown, with a massive abundance of sunny blackcurrant and blackberry fruit on the nose.
