CIGARS

Romeo, Y Julieta, Churchills

Floral notes increase once the cigar is afire, with leather, oak, and wild berry nuances tickling the nose.

Montecristo Edmundo

Warm aromas of cedar and cocoa are offered pre light, once lit a full bodied smoke comes billowing out, serving medium-full strength flavors that we found to be a harmonious blend of almond, cocoa and a dash of baking spice.

Hoyo de Monterrey San Juan

A handmade classic Robusto wrapped in a gorgeous Colorado leaf. We found notes of sweet wood mixed with floral at the top. The smoke starts out mild in strength but full in flavors with a bold tobacco up front, tangling with notes of cocoa, vanilla and cinnamon.

Partagas Seri D, No. 4

Splashes of oak, straw, honey, coffee bean, chestnut, pepper, and leather run start to finish, with tangerine and cedar nuances balancing out a solid earthy core.

Davidoff Grand Cru, Nicaragua

Flavors of nuts, pepper, cream, and wood. Experience extra strength and depth without overpowering the aroma.

Partagas Serie No. 2

Typical tasting notes of earthiness, wood and leather. Potential for spice and a touch of sweetness like cocoa or coffee, as it progresses.
