Mind & Body Classes

Vinyasa Flow Yoga

Vinyasa Yoga (also referred to as Flow Yoga) is a form of yoga that links the breath, movement and poses together. This style of yoga is often seen as a more athletic practice. The pace is usually quicker, requiring the practitioner to focus inward, while synchronizing breath and movement.

Yin Yoga

Yin yoga is a slow-paced style in which poses could be held for a few minutes or even longer. It is passive but challenging. The purpose is to apply moderate stress to the connective tissue - the tendons, fascia and ligaments - with the aim of increasing circulation in the joints and improving flexibility.

Yin Restorative Yoga

Yin and Restorative Yoga session helps your body, mind and muscles to fully relax. During this practice, we hold restorative postures for up to 5 minutes to get into the deeper connective tissues and ligaments within the body. Combined with breathing exercises and mindfulness techniques, you will feel relaxed and rejuvenated after class.

Hatha Yoga

A gently dynamic asana class based around posture practice, while delving into the subtle 'inner' practices of yoga that include breath work and yoga nidra, a guided meditation and a deep form of relaxation. In this class we explore how the beauty of yoga can help quieten the busy mind and encourage greater peace and happiness.

Pilates Mat

Using specially designed moves, Pilates educates, realigns and balances your body. It increases core muscle strength while promoting coordination and flexibility. This class uses the concept of traditional Pilates and modern principles of exercise science and rehabilitation.

Pilates on the Ball

Uses mostly traditional Pilates exercises performed on a Swill ball. By providing a soft, movable surface, core muscles are strengthened through their work to stabilize the body while performing exercises for abs, back, legs, arms and just about everything.
