OUTDOOR

Alternative Olympics encourages a play to win mentality, as well as enthusing and invigorating participants, giving them a taste of what it's like to take part in the momentous sporting occasion that is the Olympics.

Individuals are divided into teams before the games commence, with each team representing a different country. Each country will then compete against one another for medals in a range of exciting events such as (but not limited to!):

- Giant Beach Volleyball
- Oversized Basketball Shootout
- Immense Shot Putt
- Alternative High Jump and Long Jump

After all countries have competed in the main activities, a 'back to school relay' finale will give those needing to climb the leaderboard an opportunity to shine, showing that a Bronze medal can turn to Gold.

At the closing ceremony, medals will be awarded and, regardless of the outcome, the Olympic spirit shines through, when all teams congratulate those standing on the podium. Those that missed out can look forward to competing another day, hoping that next time things will be different.
