La Rioja Alta

ABV BOTTLE

When we attended a tasting in London recently we were blown away by the quality of the wines at this table. So much so that we decided to dedicate an entire page to this Producer and its satellite estates from around Spain. We shouldn't have been surprised at the quality, given they are one of the trinity of truly outstanding Rioja producers. Founded in 1890 by five families, today the 6th generation of their descendants continue with the same enthusiasm and wine making expertise and innovation. For example: they manufacture every oak barrel themselves, from wood dried in the open air for two years at their facilities; and leading the charge on sustainability they allow 100% elimination of water discharge, even clean water, to riverbeds or sewers; they also donate a % of their annual profits to projects related to agriculture in developing countries and have allocated more than €1.5million in aid to the Third World since 2007.

In this list, we have selected the wines from the original La Rioja Alta estate which retain their revered classic style, with the addition of the more modern terroir driven styles of the other estates. From the rich intensity of Aster in Ribera del Duero, the beautifully textured precision of the white from Lagar de Cervera in Galicia, and fruit driven, fresh, elegant Torre de Ona in Rioja Alavesa, there is something for everyone. We hope you share the same excitement for these wines as we do.
